

What is claimed is:

1. A gigantic strength type cutter knife for cutting a thick object, comprising:

5 a knife body having a handle portion formed at an end of the knife body, a blade outlet disposed at the other end of the knife body, and a pushing key disposed the upper surface of the knife body;

a plurality of blades superimposed and disposed in the knife body, and bulged outside or moved back inside the blade outlet by controlling the pushing key; and a handle shell assembled on the handle portion; wherein the handle shell can be assembled on or taken away from the handle portion, whereby the shape of the handle shell is further full of variety.

- 15 2. The gigantic strength type cutter knife according to claim 1, further comprising:

at least two holes disposed in two sides of the handle shell;

a bolt penetrated through the holes of the handle shell and the handle portion; and 20 at least one snapping element having a clasping end snapped into the bolt, such that the handle shell is assembled on the handle portion.

3. The gigantic strength type cutter knife according to claim 1, wherein the handle portion is provided with a snapping recess, and the handle shell is provided with a snapping protrusion which can be snapped into the snapping recess, such that the handle shell are assembled on the handle portion.